United Food and Commercial Workers Local 400 Endorses Aisha Braveboy for Maryland Attorney General

Endorsement recognizes years of leadership on minimum wage

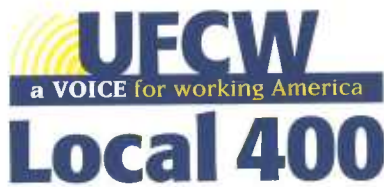

Landover, MD. April 22, 2014. The 35,000 working men and women of United Food and Commercial Workers (UFCW) Local 400 proudly endorse Delegate Aisha N. Braveboy in the 2014 Democratic primary election for Maryland Attorney General. Our endorsement recognizes Aisha's tireless leadership to raise the minimum wage and advocacy on behalf of working families. We have endorsed Delegate Braveboy because she is a strong and effective leader with an exemplary 8-year record of fighting for Maryland workers, consumers and taxpayers.

"Aisha is an independent public servant who does what she believes is right regardless of the political consequences," said Mark P. Federici, President of Local 400. "She was the chief sponsor of legislation to raise the minimum wage in 2010, 2012, and 2013, championing giving a raise to Maryland's most vulnerable workers even when it was politically unpopular," said Federici. "We respect her independence and willingness to stand apart as a leader in the fight for fair wages for working families," said Federici. Since Aisha fought to give Maryland's most vulnerable workers a raise, UFCW Local 400 will fight to raise her to the office of Maryland Attorney General.

"I am truly honored to be endorsed by UFCW Local 400," said Delegate Aisha Braveboy. "Protecting the rights of Maryland workers will be a top priority for me as Maryland's next Attorney General."

UFCW Local 400 represents 35,000 workers in Maryland, Virginia, the District of Columbia, West Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, Kentucky, and Ohio in the food processing, retail, poultry and food service industry. Local 400 will put its full support behind the effort elect Delegate Braveboy. Our endorsement includes fundraising assistance, communicating our support for Aisha among our members and their families and turning out voters for Aisha in the June primary.
